Community Good Works

April 10, 2015

Belmont Savings Bank, SpencerBANK, Sun Life Financial and more are featured in our weekly roundup of organizations giving back to their communities.

Bay State Savings Bank

Bay State Savings Bank awarded $4,000 to Edward Street Child Services through its "Champions for Children" initiative.

Belmont Savings Bank

Belmont Savings Bank recently sponsored the 15th annual Belmont Egg Hunt. In addition to being the presenting sponsor, the bank distributed gold coins that could be used for prizes.

Bristol County Savings Bank

Bristol County Savings Bank presented $5,000 to the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor Inc.

MutualOne Bank

The Framingham-based MutualOne Charitable Foundation awarded a $6,039 grant to provide informational materials for a new Municipal Services Citizens Academy sponsored by the Framingham Police Department.

The 12 three-hour weekly sessions are designed to improve police-community relations, augment policing strategies and increase the understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the police and fire departments and other municipal services.

RTN Federal Credit Union

RTN Federal Credit Union is accepting applications and essays for the 2015 James A. Burley Jr. Scholarship Contest. The awards, with prizes totaling $10,000, are conferred annually to three full-time college students who are RTN members or have parents or guardians who are Credit Union members in good standing as of April 1, 2015. Entries are due May 29.

SpencerBANK

SpencerBANK recently donated more than 14 acres of land in Sturbridge to Habitat for Humanity-MetroWest/Greater Worcester to support the nonprofit's mission to build affordable homes for low-income families.

Sun Life Financial

Former Boston Celtics players Dana Barros and Leon Powe, mascot Lucky the Leprechaun and Celtics Dancers on April 8 helped launch the Roxbury Fit To Win program, the Celtics and Sun Life Financial's rewards-based youth activity program at the Roxbury YMCA.
